

56 BC

venetian blue was used during the gallic wars

1756

rogers rangers wore gray or green uniforms during the Seven Years War

1902

officially known as "drab" the British Army used khaki for Service Dress

1914

first World War horizon blue and the decline of camouflaged garment

A BRIEF HISTORY OF CAMOUFLAGE

1917

the start of camouflage machinery:

during wwi and wwii the "dazzle" was created to make ships seem small and/or faster

1918

earth tones were used on steel helmets and tanks

1919

dazzle camouflage inspired a trend of dazzlesque patterns in England

the Chelsea Arts Club held the "Dazzle Ball," those attending wore dazzle inspired pattern

1939

camouflage was used for shelter halves and snipers

1978

aircraft production using earth colors above and sky blue below

1979

land vehicles pattern goal was to disrupt its visible characteristics

1986

Andy Warhol created his Camo Self-Portrait, which hit the art scene vat the height of the Cold War

2000s

Camouflage clothing became common:

it was worn by anti-war protestors, as well as used in everyday streetwear to high fashion labels.

